

YOUR MARY KAY CLINICAL SOLUTIONS[®] RETINOL 0.5 PRODUCT COMPATIBILITY GUIDE

Be wise while you retinize!

When using a high-concentration retinol product, it's important to gradually establish skin tolerance before advancing to more frequent use. That's why you should closely follow the Mary Kay eight-week retinization process, during which it is also recommended to avoid certain products and ingredients. This will help maximize comfort and ensure the best possible experience.

See below for Mary Kay[®] products to avoid during this eight-week period. Refer to the Post-Retinization Product Reintroduction Guide to learn which of these products you can reintroduce into your routine.
